Masyu: Draw a single closed loop consisting of horizontal and vertical lines connecting the centers of some of the squares in the grid. The path must pass through every square that contains a circle. When the path passes through a black square, it must make a 90-degree turn in that square and continue straight through both of the adjacent squares along the path. When the path passes through a white square, it must pass straight through that square and make a 90-degree turn in one or both of the adjacent squares along the path. For Metapuzzle 2, puzzle answers from Inman Square should be placed in the squares that are not on the path of the loop.
