Agents and married couple Rose and Etta Stone were sitting by the Charles River working on their French-to-English dictionary when they saw a family of agents from ACME'S Crimefighting Creatures Division flying overhead, searching for VILE villains (and tourists with snacks). These animal allies sent Rose and Etta some encrypted information they'd gathered, along with a map to their secret headquarters. The ladies immediately made their way to the right spot and worked on finding the keys to the mystery...with the help of their notes, can you do the same?
