

COMPUTING: Password Must Contain...

Poor, poor Agent Jacqueline “Jaq” Ardlüm...her Computing Class today was one of the worst she’s seen. She tried to start with that simplest of tasks--choosing passwords containing special characters (the most important feature!)--but unfortunately, her students were too busy watching the Disney Channel to focus, and produced strings of total gibberish! She’s threatened to give them all zeros for the day--unless, of course, there’s a smidge of important information in their choices after all...
